Representative Samuel Turley Died Suddenly at Frankfort Last Tuesday.

The whole community was shocked last Tuesday night when it became known that Representative Samuel Turley had died suddenly at Frankfort. Mr. Turley had spent Sunday with his family in this county and had left Mt. Sterling Monday in apparently as good health as he had been in for several months. He had been slightly afflicted with brights disease for some time. When stricken he was on his way to the Capitol accompanied by Mr. J. Lawrence White, who, immediately summoned medical aid and Mr. Turley was removed to his room at the hotel and several more physicians summoned, who, after examination found there was no chance for him and wired his family. Mrs. Turley and daughter, Mrs. M. B. French and son, Loring went to Frankfort on the first train and were with him when the end came. His death was caused by an acute attack of uraemic poisoning.

Samuel Turley was born in this county June 23, 1855 and was therefore, at the time of his death in his fifty-ninth year. He was beyond question one of the most popular men that ever lived in Montgomery county. He was popular with men in all walks of life from the humble laborer to the rich land owner and always greeted his acquaintances with a smile and pleasant word. Generous to a fault, he was never heard to criticise but was ever ready to lend a helping hand to the man who was down. Mr. Turley was an ardent Democrat but had never before held elective office, always being satisfied if his friends were given the places they wanted and it was only upon the insistent urging of his countless friends, both in Menefee and Montgomery counties that he consented to enter the race that he won.

The following joint resolution was adopted by the House and Senate:

"Whereas, the General Assembly has learned with deep sorrow that Hon. Samuel Turley, an honored, beloved and able

Presented To Local Bar By Widow Of Distinguished Soldier And Statesman

The following resolutions were adopted by the Montgomery County Bar Association Tuesday morning when Mrs. J. S. Williams presented the bar with a handsome oil painting of her husband:

We, your committee, who were appointed to draft resolutions concerning the portrait of General John S. Williams, which Mrs. Williams has kindly given to us to be hung in our Circuit Court Room, respectfully make report as follows:

John Stuart Williams, one of the most notable citizens of our State, was born in Montgomery County, Kentucky, on July 18, 1820. He received his primary education in the schools of Montgomery and Clark counties, and graduated at Oxford college in Ohio, where he was a classmate and friend of Benjamin Harrison, afterwards President of the United States. After completing his college course, he studied law and entered upon its practice in Paris, Kentucky, and was rapidly achieving eminence and success. He later married Miss Mary Harrison, of Clark county, and removed to that county and engaged in farming. His wife died soon after the birth of their only child, who is now Mrs. John H. Holloway. In 1871, General Williams married Mrs. Henrietta Lindsay Hamilton, of Montgomery county, and their most happy married life continued until General William's death at their home on July 17, 1898.

General Williams won great distinction as a young man in the Mexican War, entering upon that war with his own company, which he had raised, and having as his Lieutenant, Roger Hanson, who was later to rise to great distinction in the Civil War. General Williams led this company in the Battle of Cerro Gordo, and there both Captain and men so covered themselves with glory that the sobriquet of "Cerro Gordo" was worn by him through all his after life.

The time for which this volunteer company had enlisted ex-

SPECIAL ELECTION WEDNESDAY

Democratic Committees of Menefee and Montgomery Meet Today.

As prescribed by law a special election has been called to fill the un-expired term of the late Samuel Turley, Representative from the Menefee-Montgomery District and a copy of the call will be found elsewhere in this paper.

There seems to be considerable confusion as to how the candidate is selected and for the benefit of those who do not know we will say that the party law prescribes that the candidate is selected by a majority of the County Committees of Menefee and Montgomery counties.

We understand that there will be but one candidate before the committees, the general feeling being nearly unanimous for Mr. John A. Judy, present chairman of this county. Mr. Judy is an ardent party worker and has never held elective office and his selection is splendid evidence of the feeling of party harmony that exists here. Being a lawyer of ability and a splendid gentleman he will serve his constituents conscientiously and well.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to our relatives and friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us in the death of our beloved husband and father, Samuel Turley. Especially do we thank the members of the Kentucky Legislature and Senate for their kind resolutions of respect. And the Elks Lodge for their beautiful and touching service.

The widow and children.

SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT

Started in Mt. Sterling by Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, of Lexington, Ky.

Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, wife of Hon. Desha Breckinridge, editor of the Lexington Herald, accompanied by Miss Beatrice Moses, of Louisville, last week started the woman's suffrage movement in this city.

Quite a large crowd heard Mrs. Breckinridge at the Court House Friday evening. She was introduced by Dr. W. R. Thompson, president of the Business Men's Club and there was also a short talk by Mr. T. J. Bigstaff, of the county, who presided at the meeting.

After the meeting, cards were passed among those interested in the movement and willing to join a club to be formed here were asked to sign them and to meet with Mrs. Breckinridge and Miss Moses Saturday morning at the Court House.

Mrs. Breckinridge is a brilliant woman and her address was very interesting as it was the first of its kind ever heard here. There has been very little interest in the woman's suffrage movement locally and we hardly think it will be a success in this community.

ELECTRIC MOTOR POWER

Continuous Current Means a Great Deal to Citizens of Mt. Sterling.

After many delays caused by materials, etc., being lost in shipping, the work has now been entirely completed and Mt. Sterling has continuous electric service.

Quite a number of motors have been installed and many otherwise will be shortly. The Star Planing Mill Co. has installed five large motors to run its machines with, the Farmers' Tobacco Warehouse Co. has installed two and the McCormick Lumber Co. has contracted for several to run its mill with. Stone & Flora have at their garage a motor to take the place of the gasoline engine they have been using to pump up their air tank with and this will do away with the noisy exhaust that has been such a nuisance to the surrounding neighborhood. This office had the first motor used in this city, having purchased and installed same with the linotype.

Electric current is the ideal power and people using other means will do well to investigate its merits and saving qualities.

New Year's In France

The Joys of Two Old Men

NEW YEAR'S is celebrated to a greater extent in France than in any other country. Closely following the Christmas festivities, the celebration for the opening of the New Year vies with the earlier holiday events. Everywhere in the republic do the festivities take place, and among the places where it is the most enjoyed is in the kitchens of the homes. The average housemaid of France works for a very small salary. But she is an apt and willing servant, for she looks forward from one New Year's day to another, as then she reaps the reward for her work. It is the custom in France to make presents to all the servants at the opening of each year. This present is nearly always in cash, and it may be $5 or $20, depending upon the financial condition of the employer.

With such a custom in vogue there is very little trouble with servants in that country. They rarely quit their positions; they strive to please their employers and at all times look forward to the New Year. All the servants are allowed certain amounts. The janitor gets his share, and no one is forgotten.

Backache

Miss Myrtle Cothrum, of Russellville, Ala., says: "For nearly a year, I suffered with terrible backache, pains in my limbs, and my head ached nearly all the time. Our family doctor treated me, but only gave me temporary relief. I was certainly in bad health. My school teacher advised me to Resolved.

I quite the customary way started out last New Year's day; Being in penitential mood, I quite determined to be good. Henceforth, although the world entice, I would be deaf to its advice; Live like a holy hermit, bent To taste the bliss of sweet content; Feed upon pulse, my daily wear A woven shawl of bリスト hair. This resolution had kept It off only on it I had slept. I did my best—but, goodness know! Hair shirts do not induce repose! My wish to be an anchorite Failed somehow to oulcast the night. No matter! THE DRINKING HABIT

A CAUSE FOR DISASTER

If You Are In The Toils, Better Take The Neal Way and STOP.

The drinking habit always brings disaster. Every line of business is closing its doors to drinking men. Sober men are worth much more to their employers and demand higher wages. To the average man, habitual indulgence in intoxicating liquors is practically certain to result in failure. It breaks down his nervous system. It unfit him for business. He loses friends. He loses money. The habit brings sorrow to business associates and poverty, misery and distress to his family. When a man finds the appetite and craving for liquor has become stronger than his will power, he needs medical treatment. No man will stop drinking liquor until every trace of alcoholic poison is driven from his system. He cannot.

The matron at the home received the visitor at the door with surprise. "Good morning, madam," said he, "Happy New Year's to you. I want to hire one of the oldest men you have in this institution."

The matron looked surprised as she ushered the visitor into the long reception room. "I don't think we could allow you to hire any one today, sir. It is New Year's, you know, and as we make a little extra comfort for them on a day like this we wouldn't like to have any one absent from the table."

"The work is not hard, and it will include a New Year's dinner better than you can turn out here," replied Peters, "and when I have explained it to you I'm sure you will have no difficulty in finding a man ready and willing to accompany me."

He sat down and for ten minutes talked low and earnestly to the matron. Presently she smiled and caught the eager spirit with which the old gentleman was explaining his plan.

When he had finished she grasped his hand. "That is lovely. I never had the servant who does the marketing expects New Year's gifts from other sources. There is no special reason why she should purchase her food-stuffs at a certain market booth. But it will be noticed that she often does that very thing. When New Year's day rolls around the owner of the market booth is supposed to make her a nice present, and the present is appreciated most if it is in cash. It really must be in cash.

Then there are the leeman, the coalmans, the milkman. All of these are supposed to remember the servant girl when the new year begins. In this manner the average servant, if she is keen witted—and the most of them are—makes a snug little addition to her regular wages.

The servants' very often work for only enough to clothe themselves. They must depend on what they can make by bargaining and by receiving New Year's gifts, and these "gifts" the girls usually place in a bank at interest, thus building up their dowries for their future marriages, when they may even marry the leeman, the milkman or the coalmans.

There are some points about the French method of holding servants which are extremely satisfactory when compared to the American plan, but there are others not quite so pleasing. The girl may become so engrossed in her bargaining, as is often the case, that she disregards the table of her mistress. She may arrange to procure the edibles of a very low price, pocketing the difference from the market price, and the foodstuffs may not be so palatable. But if she is content with small amounts her bargains will never be noticed.

The American servant is paid a stipulated salary, enough for her to live upon, and the bargaining is eliminated. This takes away one of the objectionable points, and the table is usually up to the standard regardless of whether the housewife or the servant does the marketing. But the French plan certainly does hold the servants from one year to another, for there is always the prospect of the New Year's present.

The servants' very often work for only enough to clothe themselves. They must depend on what they can make by bargaining and by receiving New Year's gifts, and these "gifts" the girls usually place in a bank at interest, thus building up their dowries for their future marriages, when they may even marry the leeman, the milkman or the coalmans.

"Did you send for me, Mrs. Pyle?" he asked. "I was just getting ready for dinner."

"Yes, Filbert. This gentleman is Mr. John Peters, and he is looking for some one to work for him until 12 o'clock tonight. Are you willing?"

The little man looked worried. "Well, ma'am, I'm nearly seventy years old and wouldn't be much good shoveling snow and as this is New Year's day I—" He paused and looked appealingly at Peters.

"You won't have to shovel snow, Mr. Filbert," said Peters hastily, "and if you'll just sit down for a few moments I'll explain just what I want you to do, and I know you'll be willing to come with me."

"Filbert has been with us nearly a year now," said the matron. "He came to us from Tonka, where he was serving a long term."

"Fifteen years, sir," interrupted Filbert, "for counterfeiting. I was an engraver, sir, and fell in with a bad lot. Poverty forced me to it. I was guilty, and they sent me up for fifteen years."

"Are you alone in the world?" asked Peters.

"All alone, sir. Fifteen years is a long time, sir, and friends don't last that long."

"Sit down then. I want to tell you exactly what I mean to do."

The matron left the room. Peters told his story to Filbert, and soon the two were hurrying away in the cab.

"To the best clothing store in town," he told the driver.

At noon the cab rolled up in front of Peters' hotel, and the two entered.

"Who is that old party dining with Peters this afternoon?" asked one of the loungers in the hotel.

any case of drink habit by eliminating the poison. This leaves the drinker in the same condition as regards alcohol as the day he was born—with no desire, no craving whatever for liquor of any kind.

A splendid audience greeted Dr. Stucky at the opera house today afternoon. Capt. Chas. A. Peary President of "The City Mission Society" presided and Mr. L. T. Clark made an introductory speech which was so full of wit in a style and yet so fitting as to receive the commendation of the lecturer.

"Damaged Goods" and "The Prudential Daughters" was the theme which was handled by Dr. Stucky most skillfully and effectively. Prudery he said draped herself fantastically, but TRUTH is naked and unashamed.

His lecture cannot fail to result in good, though the foolish and the frivolous will continue to rush in where angels fear to tread.

This service was beautiful and solemn and when the lodge roll was called there were tears on many eyes. The Elks attended the funeral in a body.

The death of Representative Turley is a distinct loss to the county, as he was one of the largest land owners and most progressive and wide awake citizens of the county. He is survived by his wife and eleven children—Mrs. Marion French, Mrs. Julia Kerns, Miss Alma Turley, Mrs. Kate Hopkins, of Bourbon, and Messrs. Will Loring, John, Richmond, Charles, Ben, Davis and one brother, Zach Turley, of Chicago, and a sister, Mrs. Henrietta O'Rear, of this city.

To the stricken family we tender our heartfelt sympathy and may an ever watchful and loving God temper the winds of adversity, soften the sorrow and lighten the gloom of the grief-stricken home.

pared and the survivors were numbered out, but their gallant Captain was commissioned as Colonel of the Fourth Kentucky, by Governor Ormsby and at once returned to the war, the President of the United States simultaneously sending him a similar commission. Col. Williams continued in active service until the war closed, and was a fellow officer with Col. William Preston and Major James Ward, who afterwards served conspicuously, the first on the Confederate and the last on the Federal side, in the Civil War. General Williams particularly distinguished himself in the Confederate service in Virginia and West Virginia during the Civil War. In the early days of that war he became a Brigadier General. The confederate Congress gave him a vote of thanks and a sword in testimony of appreciation for his gallant services. General Williams was with General Joseph E. Johnston at the time of the surrender.

Brilliant as was the career of General Williams in war, he was a no less distinguished servant of his people in times of peace. He was twice elected a representative in the Legislature, once defeating Roger Hanson. He served his State as Senator in Congress from March 1879 to March 1885, his term ending with the beginning of Mr. Cleveland's first term as President. He was a candidate for re-election and was supported by a strong and enthusiastic following in the Legislature, meeting defeat at the hands of Joe C. Blackburn after one of the most memorable contests ever waged in Kentucky.

WE SHOULD PROSPER

Business and industrial conditions generally throughout the country are satisfactory, and daily becoming more so. Especially since January 1 there is a very hopeful and optimistic feeling among those engaged in various enterprises—a feeling that a more settled condition, with freedom from disquieting legislation and industrial disturbances for a long period, is in store for the American nation and its citizens.

The new Currency bill will shortly be in operation. It is generally called a great improvement in our financial system. It provides for farm loans by certain banks upon short time notes. Congress will be asked to enact special legislation for farm mortgage loans upon a long time basis.

The agricultural situation is most favorable. The government's estimate for the year just closed is that the value of farm crops and live stock produced on farms in the United States is very close to ten billion dollars—a sum which cannot well be comprehended, and greater by nearly one billion than the best previous year. The year now beginning opens with very bright prospects for farmers and citizens generally.

HEED THE WARNING

Many Mt. Sterling People Have Done So.

When the kidneys are weak they give unmistakable warning that should not be ignored. By examining the urine and treating the kidneys upon the first sign of disorder, many days of suffering may be saved. Weak kidneys usually expel a dark, ill-smelling urine, full of "brick-dust" sediment and painful in passage. Sluggish kidneys often cause a dull pain in the small of the back, headaches, dizzy spells, tired, languid feelings and frequent rheumatic twinges.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. There is no better recommended remedy.

Mt. Sterling people endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Charles Neal, 12 Hamilton avenue, Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "All I have previously said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. They have brought me so much good that I can recommend them strongly. Another of my family had a severe pain across the back. Different medicines were tried but nothing did any good until I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at Duerson's Drug Store. They brought entire relief."

Twenty-four labor unions of officials convicted in Indianapolis of conspiracy to transport dynamite are traveling a rocky road. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals of the Seventh District has affirmed the verdict of the trial court. An appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court or the United States. There shall be one law for all, the rich and the poor, the capitalist and the laborer, the white and the black. If these labor leaders are guilty, they should be punished. They should wear the stripes. Men who destroy life and property should feel the mailed hand of justice. Sympathy has ever been with the under dog. But when the under dog becomes the life destroying anarchist, a torch bearing incendiary, a slayer of his kind, an outlaw and a menace to society, there's only one way to handle him. He should be put away where it is not a menace to society, to expiate for his time against a government of law and order.

IT PAYS TO BUY FROM THE LOCAL DEALER

We have received the I. H. C. Almanac and Encyclopaedia gotten out by the International Harvester Company of America, which for its completeness and general fund of practical information is superior to anything of the kind that we have ever seen. On page 44 to 46 there is a strong argument in favor of the local dealer which cannot fail to have a marked influence with those who up to the present time have been buying from the catalogue houses. We reprint a few paragraphs from this excellent article.

"There is a curious streak in human nature which makes it impossible for most of us to resist a bargain. The lure of the remnant sale has seized upon every normal woman at least once in her lifetime. The apparently low prices of the far away catalog house or city store have at one time or another tempted nearly every farmer to send his money away from home. Love of a bargain is a common human failing.

"It is the local dealer who brings to you, and practically lays down at your door, the things that make life easier and more pleasant. He shows you the pick of what the world has to offer for your pleasure, your comfort or your convenience. Being in close touch with the sources of supply he is able to secure for you many things which you could hardly find for yourself. His specialty is Service, spelled with a capital "S", and many a farmer who has gone through the lean years knows to what extremes of service the local dealer is willing to go—in the matter of credit, for instance.

"It pays to trade at home in many ways; in better qualities for your money, especially if you buy advertised goods, in the satisfaction of seeing the goods before, instead of after you buy, in the knowledge that your money is helping to build up your own town and your community, in better hotels, better schools, better libraries, better churches, better railroad facilities, reduced rates of transportation and a healthy, happy community spirit.

"It is the right and the duty of every man and woman to spend money where it has the greatest buying power. Where is that place? You will find, if you give the local dealer a square deal, that he can save you money. Give him a chance."

has a broad conception of the public's intelligence, sees his community's needs as a whole, and understands his own function in it.

He knows that customers weigh points of value as well as prices—good taste, grace, appearance, originality. He hunts the world over for the latest and most beautiful products. Even though he has but a small establishment, his stocks will be complete, representative, adequate to meet the whole demand in his line of the average family, and they will be maintained with a view to progress in that line. Shopping is made agreeable. Growth and reputation come from customers' satisfaction after goods are in use and price forgotten.

The old bargain idea is still deeply ingrained in American merchandising. It dominates nine retail concerns in every ten, and is a subtle commercial fallacy, difficult to keep out even where a business is rigidly held to principles of service. Ideals may be clear yet doubts arise.

Some rival, appealing to the public on cheapness alone, may seem to be gaining an advantage. In a given case there will be a feeling that the public can not be trusted to distinguish value. There is always the temptation to rest the case on cheapness just this once—let value take care of itself—and cater to the desire for crowds. That tendency has to be fought constantly, consistently and vigorously.

But the bargain idea in its general acceptance is certainly passing away. If an article said to be worth a dollar is offered at seventy-five cents, there is actually thirty cents in value missing somewhere. Hazardous bargain-hunting is steadily giving way to intelligent, constructive, economical buying for the needs of the home.

OUR MEAT SUPPLY.

There is a general tendency now among farmers to keep a better class of farm animals. The high prices of stock of all kinds have been an incentive toward keeping a better quality in view of getting all the advantages possible out of the feed consumed. The discrimination in quality grows closer and closer, with the buyer as prices advance.

We note especially that the Cotton States are not in anyway behind in this matter. For instance, one of our best known beef cattle breeders in Kentucky shipped but a few days ago to an Alabama consignee thirty-two pure-bred Polled Durham and Shorthorn heifers.

and one bull of excellent breedings. This is the second shipment from the same place to the same destination within a month, totaling sixty heifers and five bulls. Considering that this cattle is pure-bred, and it is going into what has been cattle tick infested territory, speaks well for the future importance of the Alabama, Mississippi and other Cotton States as producers of meat animals.

HOW THE WEATHER BUREAU FORECASTS

Many people have an idea that there is something mysterious and occult about the work of the Weather Bureau in forecasting the coming of storms, frosts, and floods. Not a few think that the observers must necessarily get their data for reading the planets, the stars and moon. As a matter of fact, the forecaster of the Bureau foretells the coming of disturbances in a businesslike way, very similar to that in which a man who has ordered a shipment of goods would estimate the date of its arrival.

Suppose a business man had ordered a carload of pineapples from the Hawaiian Islands. He would know the average time it would take the steamer to make the trip to the Pacific port, the average time for unloading and loading into refrigerator cars, and the average number of days to be allowed these cars for their trip across the continent to New York. His estimate, however, would be subject to error because the steamship might be delayed by fog, or the cars might meet with an accident.

Storms, like pineapples, as a rule, do not originate in the United States. They come to us from the Philippines, Japan, Siberia, Alaska, Canada or the Gulf of Mexico. The weather Bureau gets cable, telegraphic or wireless notice of a foreign storm. Station after station or vessel after vessel reports the storm's arrival in its neighborhood, so that the general direction and rate of progress can be determined very early. In fact, the arrival of some storms can be foretold ten days in advance.

The forecasters watch for the Petersburg on the conditions in Russia and Siberia.

The same businesslike system used in tracing the track of a storm is applied in determining the arrival of frosts.

Flood forecasts are made in much the same way. Information as to the amount of rainfall at the headwaters of streams that cause floods are covered by telegraphic reports sent by local observers. As this rain reaches the main channel, the height of the water in the channel is determined by successive gaging stations. Past records establish how much a height, say of 20 feet at Dubuque, Iowa, will produce at Davenport, another station 80 miles down the Mississippi. This plan is followed all the way down the river, and at each point full allowance is made for the effects of water from tributaries, and from additional and local rainfall. As a result of these observations in the recent flood, the people of Cairo had warning a week or ten days in advance. The Pittsburg district can be given only 12 to 24 hours' notice, because a flood is upon them within 24 hours after a heavy rain storm.

region of low barometer which is the storm center around which the winds blow. This whirl or eddy moves bodily forward with the general eastward drift of about 650 miles a day in our latitudes. As the lines of equal pressure (isobars) around the low center crowd closer together, the winds attending the storm increase in force. The forecaster determines the direction of movement of the storm and its velocity.

When weather disturbances are reported, the forecasters know from experience about how long it takes them to reach our Pacific Coast, and then how long after they will reach the Atlantic Coast. For example, if a storm comes from Siberia, drifts eastward around the north pole and reappears in Alaska, it should appear in Washington and Oregon in about two days, should get to the Great Lakes in six days and to the Atlantic Coast in seven or eight days.

Unexpected conditions may delay storms or divert them from the straight track just as a refrigerator can be thrown off its schedule or be shipped by accident on a wrong road. Some of these storms deplete themselves by running into regions of high barometer which are of greater magnitude and extent than the storm itself. Some of them, however, travel completely around the world.

To keep tab on cold waves that come into the United States from Canada and Alaska, the Weather Bureau studies the Canadian Weather reports. England sends reports from Iceland, the British Islands and Continental Europe, and daily reports come from St.

A LETTER FROM COLORED CITIZENS

Some of the local papers seem to have up a little stir, something about an anonymous letter received by the editor of the Gazette, which communication the editor says, contained threats of violence against the city police force because of mistreatment of some local colored people by some members of the force.

We know nothing of the communication, nor of its author, but we are sure, if it was written by a colored person it was some thoughtless, irresponsible, ignorant person who gives no thought to what he says or does and it is to be regretted that such a letter was not consigned to the waste basket unnoticed, for it did not, by any means, express the sentiment of the better class of colored people, nor would any such course of action meet the approval or receive the support or sympathy of the better class of colored people in Mt. Sterling, and a community of peaceable, law-abiding colored citizens should not be condemned, nor should a spirit of race antagonism be created for what one or a few persons might do or say. We do not think there are any grievances or general complaints on the part of the colored people of Mt. Sterling against the police force. There may be some individual cases in which colored people have not been treated just right, but we believe, if there be such, if brought to the attention of the proper authorities—the Chief of Police, the Mayor or the City Council—such cases will be satisfactorily adjusted. Of course the peace officers are expected to keep within the bounds of the law and not act rashly or hastily in the performance of their duty; they are elected by us to protect us, preserve peace and keep order and they should be aided by every good citizen in the performance of these duties. Every citizen, black and white, should be accorded his rights and every citizen should try to know what his rights are and not try to abuse them, nor infringe upon the rights of others. If we are as orderly on the streets and in public places as we should be; as a rule, there would be little ground for complaint. On the streets, if we block the sidewalks so others cannot pass, we are out of the bounds of our rights. At the Opera House if we are so noisy that others who want to hear cannot, we are out of the bounds of our rights and these are some of the things to which the colored people need give attention. As a rule, we think the negroes of Mt. Sterling are fairly law-abiding. We have no clubs, as the letter states, whose object is to fight for the rights of the negro. We have such clubs as Woman's Improvement Club, the W. C. T. U., the Missionary Clubs, and the Men's Bible Classes, to which anyone black or white is welcome to come and to which we would only be too glad to have some of our white friends attend sometimes, for we feel that if the white man knew more about the better class of colored people, had a better knowledge of what the industrious negro is trying to accomplish for himself and his race, there would not be so much of a negro problem after all. Only the dark side of negro life finds its way into print of papers published by white persons and the majority of white people do not read negro papers, so it is only the bad things about the negro that they see. They read of the murders and crimes, but see little of the negro achievements along industrial lines, purchasing and building good homes, etc. The negroes of Mt. Sterling are not organizing to fight for their rights, but are working for their rights.

The sensible negro of this country knows that the best way to secure his rights is to make of himself a useful, industrious, law-abiding citizen.

There is no cause for any bad race feeling in this town, no cause for any sensational newspaper articles. We have lived here together for years in peace and harmony; let us continue. The negroes do not want social equality any more so than the whites. When it comes to social affairs, let every fellow stay on his own side of the fence, but in matters industriously, educationally and for a better Mt. Sterling let us work together as one man for the good of all the people.

Yours respectfully for good order, harmony and peace. Committee of Colored Citizens:

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

(By Courtney Horton.)

Last Thursday morning, Jan. 22nd, Rev. A. H. Hibshman pastor of the Presbyterian church conducted the devotional exercises in chapel.

Wednesday morning, Jan. 21st Dr. Leonard W. Snyder, of Philadelphia, who is known far and wide as the "Boy Minister" addressed the student body on the subject "Be Somebody." His talk was a very interesting one and was enjoyed very much by all who were fortunate enough to hear him.

Prof. Jetton was in Lexington Thursday night and witnessed the debate between the Patterson and Union Literary Societies. The Union of which he is a former member came out victorious. When seen at school Friday morning he was in high spirits and very much pleased over the result, I might also add that the expression on his face and his general allround appearance was entirely different from what it was when he returned from Lexington on Thanksgiving day after attending the State—Tennessee football game.

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the "Purple and Old Gold" Literary Society was held in chapel Friday afternoon. The subject for debate was, resolved: "That fire is more destructive than water." The question was decided in favor of the negative.

On Friday February 20th, or on Monday February 23rd, Maj. D. J. Burchett will address the student body on the subject: "Patriotism or lessons from the life of George Washington."

The apparatus for the Physics laboratory has arrived. The pupils who last fall worked so unceasingly in order to make the necessary money to buy the instruments are now beginning to realize that they were well paid for their work.

We understand that all the classes have picked their representatives for the declamatory contest and that all are working hard. The representatives of the different classes are as follows: Seniors—Josephine Thomas, Irwin Jackson; Juniors—Julia Rodman, Wallace Watts, "Sophs"—Martha Francis Reed, Charlie Oldham, Freshman—Eleanor Guilfoile and Charlie Smathers.

On Thursday February 5th, Mr. W. C. Hamilton, our well-known City Attorney, will deliver a lecture to the student body on "Civic Righteousness." The public is cordially invited and urged to attend.

RESOLUTION

Be it Resolved By The Mayor and Board of Council of the City of Mt. Sterling, Ky.:

That hereafter no officer or agent of the city shall have authority to purchase any supplies, feed and repairs, for and on behalf of said city, save only on the written order of the Chairman of the Finance Committee. And no claim presented against the City of Mt. Sterling will be approved by the Finance Committee and paid by the city that is incurred on and after this date, unless same shall have been so ordered upon the written order of the Chairman of the Finance Committee.

This resolution shall take effect on and after its passage.
